

Your INL Update — Week of Nov. 22, 2010

This is Misty Benjamin with your INL Update.

Idaho National Laboratory recently got national media attention when National Public Radio aired a three-part series about moving nuclear material from Kazakstan to a safe location for storage. You can read or listen to the story about the mission in the "INL in the News" section of INL's home page.

Team INL is kicking off Operation Iraqi Star and the team wants your support. The project will send holiday packages to Idaho soldiers serving in Iraq. You can support the troops this season by dropping off your care package items at Idaho Falls Magazine or Wealth of Health.

A community opportunity for those who enjoy reading to kids; you can join INL employees as they support 'First Book' at Barnes & Noble in Idaho Falls on Saturday. The daylong event includes storytellers and local entertainers inspiring kids to read.

This was your INL Update. You'll find more information at INL.gov, including community announcements and the latest INL news.
